++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers, particularly in the north, with sunny spells.

Today:
A chilly start. Clouds bubbling up through the day, bringing with them the odd shower by the late morning and into the afternoon, before easing off later. Sunnier and drier in the south. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers and clouds quickly melt away, allowing clear skies for all. Small chance of rural frost for a time. Heavy, rain arrives from the southwest later, reaching most by dawn. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Saturday:
A wet and windy day, with some heavy and persistent rain, especially through the morning. Rain and winds become lighter in the evening, with some drier spells likely. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Nights become milder, but remaining breezy and unsettled with sunny spells and showers throughout, perhaps merging into longer spells of rain at times. Rather chilly again by day next week.
